Biographical or Historical Information

---

Gordon Fellman has been a member of the Brandeis faculty since 1964, having previously obtained a BA from Antioch College and a PhD. in Sociology from Harvard University. He is currently a Professor of Sociology and Chair of the Peace and Conflict Studies Program. During his tenure at Brandeis, Professor Fellman has been both a witness to, and a participant in, many campus events that had national significance. In the late 1960s and early 1970s the occupation of Ford Hall and the organization of the National Strike Center were seminal moments in the history of American and African-American student activism. Professor Fellman actively collected materials on the occupation by scouring the campus for fliers, handouts, and other material related to these activities and movements. In the 1980s Professor Fellman was active in the American Anti-Apartheid movement, and in particular opposing the use of University investments in South Africa. He has been crucial in bringing world attention to the plight of Tibet and in organizing the 1998 visit of the Dalai Lama to Brandeis. His publications include The Deceived Majority: Politics and Protest in Middle America (1973), and Rambo and the Dalai Lama: The Compulsion to Win and its Threat to Human Survival (1998).

Scope and Contents

The files in this collection were created from 1949 to 2006. They include correspondence, memos, posters, and fliers; local, student, and national newspaper coverage; manuscript notes; and videos. There is considerable primary documentation of the events and dialogue between the participants of the 1960s and 1970s student protest movements at Brandeis and across the nation. A substantial amount of secondary material reflects the wider view of the social and political turmoil surrounding the Vietnam War. A later section documents the student and faculty attempts to force the University to divest its endowment of stock in companies that were active in South Africa during the 1980s. This collection also includes materials related to Fellman's teaching, research, and writing.

Source of Acquisition

Donated by Professor Gordon Fellman between June 1998 and June 2016.

Custodial History

The custodial history of this collection is varied, as some materials were created by Gordon Fellman but many were not. Specifically, the materials on the Ford Hall Takeover of 1969 and the National Strike Information Center were created largely by students involved in those efforts. The Ford Hall Takeover materials also include materials created by administrators, faculty and other community members. As these materials were sought out, collected, and curated by Gordon Fellman for many years before they came to the archives they have become inseparable from his personal files and have remained under the organizational rubric of the Gordon Fellman Papers. The National Strike Information Center materials largely consist of items left behind by the activists who were working from the Sociology Department offices.

Ford Hall Occupation, 1969-1970, undated

Date: 1969-1970, undated

Scope and Contents

This series contains statements, fliers, bulletins, petitions, announcements, resolutions, and minutes. The materials are arranged in sub-series that document the activities and responses of the participant groups: from within the occupation, the wider student body, the faculty, the president, the administration, and then general press coverage. News articles are photocopied from original newspapers located in the Newspapers series.
